Dear Mr. Warren:

Thank you for your letter of September 3, and I appreciate being given the opportunity to review the new stanza you have written for the National Anthem in commemoration of our moon landing.

Certainly the words you have written express the sentiments of all of us on this memorable occasion, and you are to be congratulated for your authorship of this stanza.

Thanks again, and do let me know whenever I may be of assistance.

Sincerely yours,

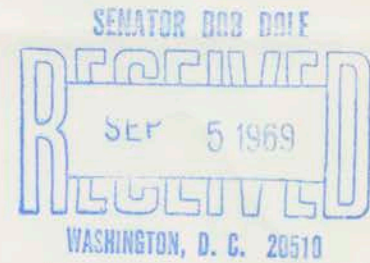

BOB DOLE

A STANZA FOR THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER
TO COMMEMORATE THE MOON LANDING

Written By
David E. Warren

On the moon's distant face, our flag now flies for all,
A bright standard of peace, to reign over Mother Earth.
Placed there by three brave men, their first step proclaimed small,
Lo, giant leap for mankind, of all nations, creed, and birth.
Moon landing, long man's dream, made true by science's scheme,
Be to us a new call and challenge supreme.

Chorus:

Oh Say, does the star spangled banner yet wave,
Over the land of the free and the home of the brave.
